

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC

CONTENIDO

VOLUME 218 No. 3, SEPTEMBER 2010

- 34 Tut's Family Secrets.
DNA sheds new light on the boy king's life and death.
Zahi Hawass.
Photographs by Kenneth Garrett.
- 60 Royal Incest:
The Ultimate taboo had risks — and rewards.
- 62 Sands of Time.
Aboriginal gods get the credit for Australia's Fraser Island.
Charles Roff Smith.
Photographs by Peter Essick.
- 80 Madagascar's Pierced Heart.
Forces of greed are pillaging native rosewood, minerals, gems.
Robert Draper.
Photographs by Pascal Maitre.
- 110 The Beauty of Insect Eggs.
They're colorful, crazy looking...and spawn in secret.
Rob Dunn.
Photographs by Martin Oeggerli.
- 122 Mystery Travelers.
Eels writhe in rivers, cross oceans, and spawn in secret.
James Prosek.
Photographs by David Doubliet.

DEPARTMENTS

- 4 Editor's Note.
- 8 Letters.
- 12 Your Shot.
- 14 Vision of Earth.

HISTORY

Found at Ground Zero.

A doll, a shoe, and Bible pages are among the artifacts destined for the 9/11 museum.

SCIENCE

Cilantro or Soap?

Your brain — and perhaps your genes — may determine if you find the herb tasty or sudsy.

CULTURE

Where Paychecks Go.

A survey shows how countries are different — and the same — in spending habits.

HEALTH

Crawly Cuisine.

Is that a fly in your soup? The UN is pushing insect farming as a way to feed the world.

GEOGRAPHY

An Explosive Wager.

A bookie in Dublin is taking bets on the volcano most likely to erupt.

THE BIG IDEA

30

Augmented Reality.

The latest smart phones and spectacles add a layer of information to what your eyes see.

140

NGS Explors.

144

Inside Geographic.

Flashback.

GeoPuzzle.

ON THE COVER

For its close-up, King Tut's 24-pound, gold burial mask was given a 90-minute reprieve from its glass case at Cairo's Egyptian Museum.
Photo by Kenneth Garrett.