

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC

CONTENIDO

VOLUME 220 No. 6, DECEMBER 2011

- 36 Miracle of the King James Bible.
The power and beauty of its worlds touch churchgoers and cowboys, poets and Rastafarians.
Adam Nicolson.
Photographs by Jim Richardson.
- 62 Cry for the Tiger.
The mightiest of cats faces annihilation. We have the means to save it. But do we have will?
Caroline Alexander.
Photographs by Steve Winter.
- 88 Politics Is Killing the Big Cats.
The world-renowned field biologist lays out a bold new approach to keep from vanishing.
George B. Schaller.
- 92 Japan's Nuclear Zone.
Thousands fled the meltdown. Exclusive photos show the eerily empty world they left behind.
Lucile Craft.
Photographs by David Guttenfelder.
- 114 Upstart Galaxies.
Satellites of the Milky Way usually perish in its grasp. Why are the Megallanic Clouds thriving?
Timothy Ferris.
- 124 Cities Are the Solution.
They may be the best way to lift people from poverty and preserve the environment.
Robert Kunzing.
- Tiger experts at India's Bandhavgarh Park hadn't seen this male before he was photographed for our story.
Steve Minter.

DEPARTMENTS

4 Editor's Note.

6 Letters.

8 National Geographic on TV.

10 Explores Journal.

12 VISIONS

18 Field Test.

20 Your Shot.

22 NOW

Georgia's Chopsticks.

Each week the town of Americus creates ten million sets to export Asia.

Hook, Line, and Orangutan.

The forest dwellers have gone fishin'.

Probing a Gobi Murder.

Why was a family of nine strangled in the desert some 500 years ago?

Power Cities.

The Big Apple is the big cheese in a ranking of urban influence.

Global Gestures.

A nod or a thumbs in different countries.

30 NEXT

Blue Goo vs. Toxic Waste.

A superabsorbent, polymer-based hydrogel can swiftly and safely suck up radioactivity.

Telltale Heart.

The latest artificial version doesn't beat. It spins as it keeps you alive.

Extraterrestrial Veggies.

There's no sun, no rain, no soli. What's the secret to space station farming?

148 NG Connect.

The Moment.

Flashback.

ON THE COVER

This 1611 King James Edition is part of the Quayle Bible Collection at Baker University in Baldwin City, Kansas.

Photo by Jim Richardson.