

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC

CONTENIDO

VOLUME 221 No. 3, MARCH 2012

- 38 The Apostles' Eternal Journey.
They preached their fair across thousands of miles. Today pilgrims still follow in their footsteps.
Andrew Todhunter.
Photographs by Lynn Johnson.
- 66 Tales of the Arabian Seas.
Ponder the riddle of the reefs, meet the happy mudskippers, marvel at on-the-go ghost crabs.
Kennedy Warne.
Photographs by Thomas P. Peschak.
- 90 How the Rock Got to plymouth.
Glaciers carried boulders hundreds of miles and left them to rest in some very unlikely spots.
Hannah Holmes.
Photographs by Fritz Hoffmann.
- 106 Rhino Wars.
The horn, whose black market value rivals that of gold, could be the rhino's curse — or salvation.
Peter Gwin.
Photographs by Brent Stirton.
- 126 Fraternité in Marseille.
Immigrants from just about everywhere seem to get along. Can the harmony last?
Christopher Dickey.
Photographs by Ed Kashi.
- 148 Destination Europe.
Foreign workers are driving population growth. Where are they from — and where are they now?

DEPARTMENTS

- 4 Editor's Note.
- 6 Letters.
- 8 National Geographic on TV.
- 9 Explorers Journal.

12 VISIONS

- 18 Your Shot.

- 21 Photo journal.

25 NOW

American as Cheese.

Its name and hue owe a debt to mid-1800s English cheese lovers.

Saving Aussie Bats.

Eucalyptus trees and koalas are especially grateful.

LOL = ha3 = mdr.

The world has many ways to e-laugh.

How to Remember.

Batman and a dreidel can aid in memorizing the order of a deck of cards.

Coconuts: Mail 'Em...

The U. S. mail will deliver the whole nut!

...And Use 'Em for Fuel.

Coconut oil can run a ship. Coconut water can power an athlete.

32 NEXT

New Spin on Gern Warfare.

Spies can now encode secret information in colonies of E coli.

Redirecting Flight Paths.

A new navigation system will enable pilots to fly shorter, more precise routes.

Monumental Repairs.

Washington's famed obelisk is under- going a post- earthquake tune-up.

150 NG Connect.

The Moment.Flashback.*ON THE COVER

In a detail from Leonardo da Vinci's "Last Supper", three Apostles protest Jesus' Prediction of betrayal. Left to right: Jesus, Thomas, James the Greater, and Philip.

Photo by Haltadefinizione

Image Bank, Novara, Italy; courtesy Ministry of Culture, Superintendency of Milan.