

NATURAL HISTORY

CONTENIDO

VOLUME 118 No. 10, DECEMBER/JANUARY 2010

FEATURES

COVER HISTORY

- 20 Confessions of a Gall Hunter.
Thousands of species of insects induce plants to grow fanciful nurseries for their larvae.
Ron Russo.
- 26 Lilies of the Sea.
Crinoid fossils posed a puzzle to those who first collected them: were they animal, vegetable, mineral —or otherworldly?
Anna Marie Roos.

DEPARTAMENTS

- 2 The Natural Moment.
Meals on Heels.
Photograph by Scott Linstead.
- 6 Nature.net
Iron Man.
Robert Anderson
- 6 Word Exchange.
- 10 Samplings.
News from Nature.
- 18 Celebrating Astronomy.
Starry-Eyed Entrepreneur.
Marcia Bartusiak.
- 32 Bookshelf.
Fort he Coffee Table.
Laurence A. Marshall.

34 Reviews.
 Gifts for Budding Scientists.
 Diana Lutz.

42 Skylog.
 Joe Rao.

44 At the Museum.

48 Endpaper.
 A Rosy Return.
 Helen Hays.

ON THE COVER:

Urn galls growing on the underside of a scrub oak leaf contain larvae of the wasp Phylloteras cupella.
Image by Ron Russo.