

THE SCIENCE TEACHER

CONTENIDO

VOLUME 77 No. 5 AUGUST 2010

FEACTURES ON THE THEME

- 24 Kick Off Summer With Reading.
Relax and recharge with Reading suggestions from NSTA Recommends reviewers.
Juliana Texley.
- 28 A Virtual Circuits Lab.
Building students' understanding of series, parallel, and complex circuits.
Matthew E. Vick.
- 32 Generate an Argument: An Instructional Model.
Promoting and supporting scientific argumentation outside the lab.
Victor Sampson and Jonathon Grooms.
- 39 From Generation to Generation: Oral Histories of Scientific Innovations From the 20th Century.
A Firsthand look at the history of science through the eyes of those who lived it.
Mundy J. Bedrossian.
- 43 Frontloading Classroom Management.
How to plan for the first class.
Keith Roscoe and Kim Orr.
- 49 Robotics on Water.
A Project-based learning activity base on U.S. Coast Guard missions.
George Hademenos, Jonathan Russell, John Birch, and Karen Wosczyzna-Birch.

DEPARTAMENTS

- 6 Editor's Corner
The History of Science, in Real Life.
- 8 The Prepared practitioner.
Summer Reading.
- 10 Safer Science
Are Your "Bungs" on Tight?

12	Science 2.0 Summer Surfing.
14	Headline Science Survival of the Fittest • Robot Rescue Missions • Human – Centered Reasoning • Stressed-Out Poplars • Mammal Diversity Patterns • School Nutrition Programs • New Hammerhead Study.
38	Author Guidelines
53	NSTA Conferences
60	Idea Bank Putting the “Science” in “Science Fiction • Start the Year Off Green!
66	Career of the Month. An Interview With Arborist Tchukki Andersen.
68	Call for Papers
70	Health Wise. No matter what I tell my students, they insist it’s safe to go to the tanning salon. What are the real effects of tanning beds?
76	NSTA Recommends
84	Index of Advertisers

COVER

This issue of The Science Teacher provides you with recommendations for your summer Reading, as well as tips and activities to help you prepare for the upcoming school year. From first day lesson plans to oral histories and virtual labs, we hope these resources will make for an even better year ahead. So sit back, read up, and enjoy your summer!