

SMITHSONIAN

CONTENIDO

VOLUMEN 42, No. 10, FEBRUARY 2012

FEATURES

- 38 Gold Fever.
Spurred by rising global demand for the metal, miners are destroying invaluable rainforest in Peru's Amazon basin.
Donovan Webster,
Photographs by Ron Haviv.
- 52 Mystique of the Mother Road.
Stretches of iconic Route 66 are back on the map, thanks partly to — voilà! — foreign tourists.
David Lamb,
Photographs by Catherine Karnow.
- 60 The Orchid Olympics.
Breeders from 19 countries put their creations to the test at the 20th World Orchid Conference in Singapore.
Somali Roy,
Photographs by JG Bryce.
- 70 Mad for Dickens.
Two centuries after his birth, the novelist is still wildly popular, as a theme park, a new movie and countless festivals attest.
Joshua Hammer,
Photographs by Stuart Conway.
- 84 Ancient Modernism.
Surprisingly sophisticated portraits done 2,000 years ago in Egypt rival much more recent works.

DEPARTMENTS

- 3 From the Editor.
OBJECTS OF DESIRE.
- 4 Letters.
“DARROW IN THE DOCK”.
- 6 Indelible Images.
THE OTHER MAN.
Was Leonardo da Vinci's famous anatomical chart actually a collaborative effort?

Toby Lester.

13 Wild Things.
TOOLS OF THE RAVEN.

14 Now on Our Website.

16 Profile.
READY OR NOT.
Seismologist Lucy Jones is trying to prepare Americans for the next “big one”.
Amy Wallace.

25 Around the Mall.
TIME IN A BOTTLE.
26 Q&A David Adjaye.
30 The Object at Hand. Egyptian Mummy.
32 From the Castle. Icons and Insights.
34 Here & Now. Marine Aviators.

37 Interview.
ERIC KLINENBERG.
The benefits of living alone.

90 Presence of Mind.
EXPLAINING EVIL.
Recently REISSUED, William L. Shirer’s seminal 1960 history of Nazi Germany is still important reading.
Ron Rosenbaum.

96 Fast Forward.
A BIG MOVE.

ON THE COVER

Charles Dickens remains a towering presence in culture high and low.
Illustration by James Victore.

This page.
Most of the orchids on display at the conference are hothouse hybrids that can’t be found in the wild.
Photographs by JG Bryce / Gallery 339.