CONTENIDO

VOLUMEN 26 No. 11, NOVEMBER 2012

FEATURES

- 30 Coming to Terms.
New noninvasive methods of selecting the most viable embryo could revolutionize in vitro fertilization.
Anna Ajduk and Magdalena Zernicka-Goetz.
- 36 Omega-3s: Fishing for a Mechanism.
Despite abundant evidence supporting their ability to help prevent and treat cardiovascular disease, the therapeutic effectiveness of fish oil-derived fatty acids remains controversial.
Ethan J. Anderson and David A. Taylor.
- 43 Life Sciences Salary Survey 2012.
Researcher salaries continue to buck the trend of the millennium's first decade, remaining flat or even declining across most life science disciplines.
Harley Dunning.

DEPARTMENTS

- 12 From the Editorial
Long and Rocky Roads.
From basic research to beneficial therapies.
Mary Beth Aberlin.
- 17 Notebook
Dolled-Up Turtles; Chocolate and Cheese; A Celebrated Symposium; Pneu-mummy-a.
- 24 Critic at Large.
Little Fish in a Big Pond.
The potentially devastating effects of overfishing forage fish such as sardines and herring.
Ellen K. Pikitch.
- 25 Critic at Large.
Military Mind Wars.
How neuroscience research can inform military counterintelligence tactics, and the moral responsibilities that accompany such research.
Jonathan D. Moreno.
- 28 Modus Operandi.

Timing Turnover.

Two-tone fluorescent tags in vitro.

Kerry Grens.

48

The Literature

Viral Skeleton; soil microbes release carbon dioxide when dry spells end; nuclear envelope budding.

50

Profile.

The Road Less Traveled.

First, Arainda Chakravarti drew a map of how scientists might unravel the genetics of complex disease. Then he blazed the trail.

Megan Scudellari.

55

Scientist to Watch.

Erica Larschan.

Kerry Grens.

56

Lab Tools

Creative Emulsification.

Enhancing data collection from emulsion PCR reactions: three case studies.

Sabrina Richards.

59

Survey.

PCR Usage and Preferences.

Christi Bird.

60

Lab Tools

A Guide to the Epigenome.

Making sense of the data deluge.

Jeffrey M. Perkel.

65

Bio Business.

Tumor Snipers.

After two headline successes, companies rush to develop “smart bomb” cancer drugs.

Megan Scudellari.

68

Reading Frames.

Truth and Consequences.

Studying the consequences of behavior has shed light on a wide range of life-science phenomena.

Susan M. Schneider.

Capsule Reviews.

Annie Gottlieb.

84

Foundations.

Poetry and Pictures, circa 1830.

Beth Marie Mole.
