

AMERICAN PHOTO

CONTENIDO

VOLUME 22 No. 3, MAY/JUNE 2011

FEATURES

- 29 Shooting Drugs
A first-person account of one photographer's ill-fated trip to cover Djibouti's national addiction. Jail time, anyone?
Peter McBride.
- 34 The Top 10 Wedding Photographers
Death to boring wedding photos! Ten shooters who go beyond the conventional and challenge the industry to get creative.
Aimee Baldrige.
- 54 A Gaint's Steps
In death as in life, Brain Lanker casts a massive shadow across the photo world. A fond look back by a close friend.
Rich Clarkson.
- 62 Emphas.is Added
The Internet's latest mutation may just be the spark that keeps photojournalism's flames burning brightly.
Michelle Bogre.

DEPARTMENTS

Focus

- 13 One to Watch
Object Lessons.
Adam Voorhes is having way too much fun. We have the evidence.
Franklin Melendez.
- 16 Fresh Take
From Nairobi to Nearby.
A photographer and a writer hatch a bold plan to tell tales of normal life in Africa.
Scott Alexander.
- 18 Books
The Damned and Beatiful.

Mapplethorpe revisited, Tina Barney conjures a bourgeois asylum, and more.

Jack Crager.

22

On the Wall

Pictures in Time.

Three venues take on the turbulent 1960's in three distinct ways.

Judith Gelman Myers.

24

Digital Domain

Tech Trends.

Game consoles as lighting gear, World Wet Plate Day 2011, PhotoRocket takes off.

Jack Crager.

Gear

69

Editor's Choice

Finding New Range.

Fuji's killer X100.

Jonathan Barkey.

70

New Stuff

The Goods.

Your new toys.

Jonathan Barkey.

72

Hands on

Tiny, Tough and Fast.

Pentax's K-5 Phase One's high-end digital back.

Jonathan Barkey.

Skills

78

Digital Darkroom

Faking Polaroid Image Transfers.

Polaroid film in no more, but you can still cheat image transfers in Photoshop.

Theano Nikitas.

84

Parting Shot

The Eyes Have It.

Street artist JR confronts Los Angeles with its kryptonite: old age.

Scott Alexander.

On the Cover

Rocco Ancora's photo of this freshly wed couple finds a candid, soulful moment amid heavy traditional nuptial imagery. See more on page 34.