

AMERICAN PHOTO

CONTENIDO

VOLUME 23 No. 2, MARCH /APRIL 2012

FEATURES

- 32 We'd Like to Have You for Dinner
What do you say when a cannibal chief invites you in for a drink? One photographer's account of his close encounter with an unreconstructed South Pacific island tribe.
Ken Kochey.
- 38 Master Manipulators
Altering images is as old as photography itself. But Photoshop lets us take it further than ever. We spend some time with five visionaries pushing photo manipulation to brilliant extremes.
Michael Kaplan.
- 50 Unfair Use
Digital technology makes it easier than ever for millions of people see your photographs. And to steal them. A look at the new rules of Internet copyright (Spoiler: there aren't any).
Travis Marshall.
- 52 Adamant Eve
Eve Arnold passed away in January, on the cusp of her 100th birthday. A look back at the stunning legacy of one of the 20th century's most important photojournalists.
Aaron Sigmond.

On the Cover

Mat Baker's impossible photo of a skydiver is a real mouthful. For more of his work, see page 44.

DEPARTMENTS

Focus

- 13 Work in Progress

Street Illegal.

Former CIA investigator Hank O'Neal has spent the past four decades chronicling New York City's street art, creating a dazzling study of the outsider art form.

Scott Alexander.

18

One To Watch

Cowboy Funky.

Texas photographer Jay B. Saucedo explores the rich folklore of the West through its eccentric characters.

Franklin Melendez.

24

Books

Cuba, Now and Then.

Three divergent takes on the island nation: Walker Evans's street scenes, Michael Eastman's shots of grand decay and Michael Dweck's night-life revelry.

Jack Grager.

26

On the Wall

A Thousand Faces.

Cindy Sherman in toto, Brian Ulrich's consumerist critique, Arthur Tress's reflections on San Francisco and more.

Lindsay Comstock.

30

Digital Domain

App Pupils.

As traditional publishing models go digital, iPad apps present an enticing opportunity- and a pricing conundrum.

Jack Crager.

Gear

65

Editor's Choice

Nikon D4.

Our first look at Nikon's dazzling new flagship.

66

New Stuff

The Goods

Ricoh's new GXR zoom module, Casio's super-slim short-throw projector, the Olympus OM-D Polaroid's Android camera more.