

WIRED

CONTENIDO

VOLUME 18, No. 8 AUGUST 2010

FEATURES

- 106 Where's the Future?
We were promised slick laser guns, fusion energy, AI computers, and roboservants. So what happened? Guest time traveler Will Ferrell takes us on a tour of tech that never took and helps explain why the marvels of the future failed to materialize.
- 118 Mind Reader.
Meet Caterina Fake, the creative spark behind Hunch. Her big idea? Develop an addictive Web service that knows what you want before you even want it.
Devin Leonard.
- 124 History Exposed.
Riverboat workers. Drawn curtains. Clock faces. In 1848, a set of daquerreotypes captured a stunningly detailed panorama of bustling meddle America. Zoom in and the past comes to life.
Julie Rehmeyer.
- 130 Under Pressure.
Stress doesn't kill us — but it makes everything that does kill us much worse. Inside the search for a cure.
Jonah Lehrer.
- 134 State of the Art.
The deadliest weapons in Afghanistan and Iraq aren't grenades or AK-47s—they're roadside bombs made of everyday items. How the US military is learning to fight back.
Adam Higginbotham.
- 17 Release Notes.
Inspiration from a sore back, Will Ferrell's dog problem, crowdsourcing in-flight entertainment, and more.
- 18 Rants.
Reader rants and raves
- 23 Lower the Bar.
Millions are being made on pre-IPO stock. But right now only the rich can play.

- 32 Reef Madness.
A pair of identical twins from Australia turned some spare-time crochet into a vibrant oceanic ecosystem.
- 34 Mr. Know – it All.
How “finfers keepers” applies to small-time fossil hunting.
- 42 Nerds Take Napa.
Grading the wine of Silicon Valley entrepreneurs who’ve switched from tech to grapes.
- 47 Fetish.
Why waste half your netbook space with a clunky keyboard? With dual screens, Toshiba’s Libretto W105 is twice as nice.
- 55 Reviews.
Give your pals a true super soaking with a high – powered water cannon. Plus, wireless headphones and GPS digicams.

PLAY: OVERKILL

- 65 Extreme Everything.
This month: pop culture that goes way over the top.
- 73 Roast Without Equal.
A 19th-century avian assemblage that makes the turducken look like a midnight snack.
- 76 My Week of Books.
One man’s courageous journey into the heart of the immersive first-person gimmick.

MINIFACTURES

- 90 The Master Planner.
Fred Brooks shows us how to design anything.
Kevin Kelly.
- 94 Bad Connection.
Why AT&T’s partnership with Apple went so terribly wrong.
Fred Vogelstein.
- 152 Found.
Artifacts from the future.

ON THE COVER

Photographed for WIRED by Dan Winters. Styling by Amy Meyer.
Grooming by Simone Almekias-Siegl for Jemma Kidd.